Fees and Charges

What deposit is required to hold a date?

For wedding events, a non-refundable fee of $500.00 is required to hold a date. An additional nonrefundable deposit of 1500.00 is due beginning of January. This is nonrefundable. Half of the remaining balance is due

I need to cancel my event; can I get my deposit back?

Because of the nature of the event business, and the fact that the vast majority of events need to be booked well in advance and require a lot of work prior to the event, all deposits are non- refundable.

Are the prices subject to change?

Although we have never done so, we reserve the right to change our prices without notice. Food costs, especially beef and seafood, can be extremely volatile and out of our control, and if need be, we may need to adjust our prices accordingly.

What if my numbers change?

The number given three weeks before will be the number charged for. Additional guests can be added up to 1 week before hand, but guest cannot be subtracted.

Why is there a pricing difference between weddings and other functions?

There is a difference between weddings and other functions because of the amount of work it takes to put on a wedding both before and during the day of the event versus a business or social gathering.. The day of the event, weddings require extra fixtures, such as place cards, cake, and gift table and linens, and extra staff to attend to the wedding party and ensure the timetable for the night goes smoothly. There is a big and important difference between weddings and other event.
